Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 27 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cloud increasing overnight, patchy rain likely on western Pennines later.

This Evening and Tonight:
Dry with clear spells at first with the odd fog patch forming in rural areas inland. However, cloud increasing from the west later in the night, perhaps giving some patchy rain on the western Pennines by daybreak. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Friday:
Generally rather cloudy with some patchy rain or scattered showers on the western Pennines, largely dry in the east with some brightness developing later. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Cloud and any patchy light rain early on Saturday, improving to give a largely warm, dry and sunny weekend. The odd patch of coastal mist is possible by Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.